PROFILE

I'm an experienced, hard-working web developer with a keen interest in education. Former professional chess player and trainer, I have 3.5 years of experience working with children as a chess trainer. I am a passionate to my work. Thanks to my extensive experience playing professional chess, I have developed an analytical mind aimed at optimal problem solving. Being a fan of my craft, I spend an average of 14 hours a day programming. I always strive to create clear and reusable codes that are easy to maintain.
